Catechetical Sunday September 15

CATECHETICAL SUNDAY

Theme: "Lord, when did we see you hungry?" (Matthew 25:37)

The theme reflects our call to missionary discipleship. As St John Paul II reminded us: The universal call to holiness is closely linked to the universal call to mission. Every member of the faithful is called to holiness and to mission. We are called to be eucharist by word and action to our brothers and sisters in Christ. Our times cry out for this kind of holiness, one inflamed by the ardent determination to bring as many of our brothers and sisters as possible to Christ. (USCCB)

Who is a catechist? A catechist is one who teaches in the name of the Church (USCCB). Therefore, anyone in the parish community who fulfills this role should be commissioned on Catechetical Sunday. This includes those who volunteer in preschool and elementary religious education, youth ministry, young adult ministry, OCIA processes, adult formation, etc.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION – "Growing in Faith Together"

*COMMISSIONING OF CATECHISTS, OCIA COORDINATOR, YOUTH MINISTERS

- September 15, 2024 – During the 9:00 AM Mass

Catechetical Sunday marks the start of the Religious Education classes in parishes. Here at OLM, the grand registration of students was done last Sunday. Today, we hold the Commissioning of our 11 volunteer Catechists which include the OCIA Coordinator and Youth Ministers.

Catechists: *Evangeline Bacani * Fe Go * Mary Ann Goloran * Lucille Mohika * Rosemary Mohika * Rosario Sipalay * Cathy Villanueva * Francisca Kovaloff* – Coordinator

OCIA Coordinator: Dorothy Pregil

Youth Ministers: Diana Peterson – Coordinator * Nicole Peterson – Assistant Coordinator

We pray for our Catechists, OCIA Coordinator & Youth Ministers, and a successful Catechetical Year 2024-25.

Next Sunday's Reading

Twenty-Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time

First Reading

Wisdom 2:12, 17-20

Second Reading

James 3:16-4:3

Responsorial Psalm

Psalm 54:3-6, 8

Gospel

Mark 9:30-37

FOCUS: Our lives must demonstrate our belief in Christ.

Today we hear the question that is at the center of the entire Gospel. Who is Jesus, and what does it mean to follow him? We would do well to reflect on this question from time to time. Who do we say that Jesus is, and how do our actions demonstrate this belief?

First Reading: Isaiah 50:5-9

Isaiah prophesies of the servant of the Lord who has not turned his back on the Lord but has given his back to those who beat him, believing that the Lord is his help.

Second Reading: James 2:14-18

In the second reading, James argues that faith without works is dead.

Gospel: Mark 8:27-35

In the Gospel, Jesus asks his disciples who they say he is. Peter answers, You are the Christ. Jesus then says that anyone who wishes to follow him must take up his cross.

MAHALO FROM CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY OF AMERICA

Thank you for your support to the National Collection for The Catholic University of America (CUA). By giving to the collection, you are supporting future Catholic leaders, both religious and lay, who are being formed by an exceptional faith-rooted education. The University's various research and training initiatives support dioceses and parishes in responding to the most pressing needs of the faithful. It offers a master's program in Ecclesial Administration and Management and a program that prepares recent graduates to serve as campus ministers. May the Lord reward you for your generosity.

STEWARDSHIP PRAYER

Heavenly Father,

September is a month that offers hope for things to come:

our daily life has a new rhythm,

there are new beginnings and new encounters,

and a new energy is seen in the parish community.

In this month of accelerating activities, keep us mindful that we live for Christ and not for ourselves.

Give us the strength and the wisdom to be

"Doers" of Your Word, and not just listeners;

to be good stewards of the Gospel each and every day.

In this month of transition

help us find a deeper spiritual balance in our lives

that takes time for you,

listens to the promptings of your Spirit and give us hope that the body of Christ has well begun the transformation of a troubled world.

We ask this through your Son, Jesus Christ,

who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever.

Amen.

STEWARDSHIP REFLECTIONWE SHOULD BE GRATEFUL BELIEVERS NOW MORE THAN EVER

*by Dan Conway (dconway@gpcatholic.com)

In the early 2000s, when the sex abuse scandal first shocked the Church in the United States, Cincinnati Archbishop Daniel E. Pilarczyk (now retired), initiated a program he called “Grateful Believers.” He dedicated his weekly column in the archdiocesan newspaper to reminiscences about people and things for which he was grateful, and he invited all clergy and lay people in the Archdiocese of Cincinnati to call to mind similar experiences of gratitude.

Archbishop Pilarczyk’s insight was that if we focus only on the negative, on the sins and scandals, we risk losing sight of the fundamental beauty and goodness of the one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church. Yes, some Church’s leaders have sinned. Yes, we are right to be embarrassed, angry and hurt. But is that all there is? No.

Think back to the experiences for which you are grateful: For the gift of Jesus Christ freely given in the Eucharist and all the sacraments; for the Word of God generously shared in the scriptures; for the ministry of good priests, deacons and bishops; for the holy women and men in religious orders, and countless lay people, who have given their lives to proclaim the Gospel, to teach our children and to serve the poor and vulnerable among us. We should be grateful to them—now more than ever—because they did not give up on the wounded Church they served so faithfully.

There are more than a few reasons to be grateful for the ministry of recent popes, for the leadership of bishops past and present, and for the good priests who have served parishes throughout the United States so faithfully. Name a few of the people you are grateful for. Recall their kindness to you in times of trouble, or their ministry to the sick and elderly members of your family. Thank God for all that they shared with you in homilies or faith sharing sessions. Remember the people who cared unselfishly for the needs of God’s people, and say thank you.

Gratitude is the best cure for anger and depression. It lifts our spirits and calls attention to the blessings we have received—undeservedly and with no strings attached. When we say thank you to God or to another human being, we acknowledge that we are not autonomous, self-sufficient beings but members of God’s family called to love and serve one another.

Grateful believers are not naïve. They do not sweep bad news under the carpet or maintain that no evil has been done by sinful men and women in positions of authority in the Church. Grateful believers are thankful that painful truths are now being told; that Church leaders are cooperating with civil authorities and being accountable for, and transparent about, abuses dating back several generations. Grateful believers are sad and angry, but they refuse to let these emotions paralyze them or cause them to give up on the Church.

Grateful believers know that the work of Christ must continue—now more than ever. The Gospel must be preached; the faith must be handed on to future generations; and the poor and vulnerable must be served. Whatever evil may have been committed by individual Church leaders, there is still no greater force for good in the United States than the Catholic Church. No institution or community does a better job of resettling refugees, of helping children and families break the cycle of poverty, of caring for the healthcare needs of the indigent poor, of inspiring young people to live lives of generous service, and much more.

Now more than ever, we should give thanks for the sacraments, for the intercession of Mary and all the saints, and for the good work being done every day by lay people, religious, deacons, priests and bishops. Now more than ever, we should be proud of our Church which in spite of its weakness and sin carries on the work of Jesus Christ here and now.

Is it too much to ask that each of us say “thank you” at least once a day for the gifts we have received in and through the Catholic Church? Surely gratitude is better than bitter resentment when it comes to a healthy spiritual life.

Thank you, Pope Francis, cardinals, archbishops and bishops, and all you holy priests and deacons, religious women and men, and lay people who serve the Church in our country. We are grateful believers who—in spite of everything—appreciate your ministry now more than ever.

DIOCESE OF HONOLULU - EUCHARISTIC REVIVAL

10TH NATIONAL EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS: A TASTE OF HEAVEN (part 2)

I believe that one of the reasons the event was so special was that it was a congress and not a conference. A congress is a gathering of the Church for worship, centered on the experience of the liturgy and prayer before the Eucharist. The purpose of the congress is to express our love and gratitude to the Lord for the gift of the Eucharist and to grow in that love. This is why we had the beautiful focus on repentance and conversion of heart, so we can all grow deeper in union with the Lord.

I was so grateful for the way the speakers kept the kerygma, the proclamation of the good news of salvation, at the center, inviting all to repentance and also showing how the Eucharist is central to this proclamation of the redeeming love of Christ. I believe it helped us see how the Eucharist, the source and summit of our Christian life, is also the source and summit of evangelization.
